

Gladys I

General Manager Human Resources

In Bangalore, India, Gladys is the General Manager of Human Resources at Sopra Steria, a major player in the European tech sector. With more than 50,000 employees in nearly 30 countries, it is recognized for its consulting, digital services, and development.

Gladys, with a strong background in business, training, and various HR functions, has built a career marked by versatility and impact. Her experience spans multiple roles in business and human resources, where she has consistently contributed to financial growth and organizational development.

As a seasoned people leader, she is known for her collaborative approach and excels in coaching, mentoring, guiding, and empowering individuals. Her ability to engage and develop people has been key to fostering long-term success.

Outside of work, Gladys enjoys traveling and discovering new places, people, and cultures.