

Dea Irby

Business Owner, Speaker, Author

Dea is a licensed Real Estate agent, and she and her husband own the Irby Realty Group, which they formed in 2020. She earned her Real Estate license in 2013, when she began working as a REALTOR® in North Carolina. In May of 2018, she joined the Keller Williams United Realty market center.

She previously owned The Baron York Tea Room and Gift Shop in North Georgia for 7 years and published A Dollop and A Pinch: Recipes and Stories from The Baron York. She is a certified Eatwith host serving “the world’s best spaghetti” and is an Airbnb host at “Bull City Home Away From Home.”

Dea received her Bachelor of Arts from Belhaven College and continues studying and collecting certifications: Specialty Tea Institute, Food Handler, Strategic Pricing Specialist, and others.

She enjoys traveling all over the world to visit her 8 children and 18 grandchildren. She is a TEDx speaker on YouTube (“The Magic of the Meal”) and is a frequent podcast guest.

She and her husband live in North Carolina.
