

Nathan Estruth

Vice Chairman; former Chief Executive

Nathan currently serves as Vice-Chairman of the Board for KPS Global, a private equity-backed business-to-business service and manufacturing leader in climate solutions for the retail industry.

In December 2018, he retired from Procter & Gamble after serving as Officer and Vice-President for more than a decade. In his last position, he served as President & CEO of iMFLUX Inc., a start-up subsidiary bringing advanced manufacturing and disruptive technology to the mold building and injection molding industries. After his P&G retirement, he ran for Lieutenant Governor of Ohio.

Nathan has spoken at Wharton's Executive Leadership Program, Harvard Business School's Entrepreneurship conference, Tsinghua University (Beijing, China), the Online to Profit conference, the Center for Corporate Innovation CTO Innovation and CEO Forums, and was a keynote speaker at the 2010 World Health Care Congress.

He earned a Bachelor's degree in Political Science International Relations from UCLA and spent an additional year of Graduate study at the John F. Kennedy School of Government at Harvard University.

Nathan enjoys spending time with his wife and their four children, serving and investing resources in many different non-profit activities on a local, national, and global basis. His favorite activities include racquetball, fly-fishing, and backpacking.

