

Rich Leary

Director, Organizer, Grandfather

Rich recently retired after serving for 36 years in a leadership development organization. During that time, he and his family lived for a total of 19 years in Central and Eastern Europe. Rich enjoys connecting people across cultures and seeing them develop as leaders.

He has a bachelor's degree in Urban Planning from Rutgers University and both a Masters of Public Administration and a Law degree from the University of Tennessee.

His interests include almost all sports, with pickleball being his current devotion. He and his wife Barb live in Midlothian, Virginia, and have 5 adult children and 12 grandchildren. One of his favorite things to do is plan overseas trips, especially to anywhere in Europe.
