

Tim Beatty

President, Bullen Ultrasonics

Tim is president of Bullen Ultrasonics, a globally recognized pioneer and leader in ultrasonic machining services for the MEMS, Semiconductor, and Aerospace Industries.

He began his career at Bullen in 1999 working in customer service and then moved on to other roles in operations and business development. Most notably, he led the company's successful expansion to Southeast Asia and managed the construction and operation of a new plant in Suzhou, China, northwest of Shanghai.

Tim speaks regularly about the importance of healthy cultures built on the foundation of trust, respect, accountability, and communication. In the last 5 years, he has provided business consulting and mentoring for dozens of business owners.

He holds a bachelor's degree in psychology from Anderson University (Anderson, Indiana) and a master's degree in business administration from the University of Dayton (Ohio). He has served on the Board of Directors for US Plastics and the Board of Advisors for Ohio Manufacturing Extension Partnerships (MEP). He lives in Cincinnati, Ohio, with his wife and 3 children and enjoys reading about leadership, jogging, and playing Pickle Ball on the indoor courts at Bullen.

