Cliff Harris

Leadership Coach, IT Expert, Recruiter

Cliff is a certified life coach specializing in leadership development and career transitions. With a rich background in IT, including systems analysis, software development, and network administration, Cliff brings a unique blend of technical expertise and coaching insight to his clients. As a professional recruiter, he has successfully helped IT companies and professionals secure progressive and rewarding opportunities.

In addition to his IT expertise, Cliff has extensive experience in operational management, accounting, and financial management, particularly with small businesses and startups. His holistic approach combines practical business skills with personalized coaching, empowering individuals and organizations to reach their full potential.

GLOBAL LEADERSHIP
PARTNERS