

John Dutton

Executive Director & Coach

John is the Executive Director of Athletes For The Nations (AFTN), a non-profit organization. Using personal training, sports camps, and coaching clinics, AFTN seeks to inspire athletes and coaches to use their gifts and talents to serve others and impact the world around them.

John gained valuable experience through his 31 years of playing American football as well as coaching at multiple levels for 10 years. He is passionate about developing leaders and teaching them the value of identity, purpose, character development, and legacy.

John is married to Terina, and they have six children. He and his family have lived in Ethiopia, Uganda, Mexico, and Croatia. They focus on international community development, entrepreneurship, human trafficking prevention, and job creation. John's interests include golfing, fishing, spending time with his family, and enjoying a good cup of coffee.
