

Jon Chen

Strategy Consultant, Leadership Team Coach, Entrepreneur, Investor

Jon is a business and leadership team coach who partners with CEOs and nonprofit leaders to unlock their organizations' full potential, from inception to exit.

He works with C-suite executives to create a clear and compelling strategy, align and execute as a high-performing team, and craft the organization's soul for the greatest competitive advantage. As a certified exit planner, he also works with business owners to create a holistic strategic plan to leverage their businesses to fulfill their dreams.

Jon began his career as a strategy consultant, launching businesses, products, and operations for Fortune 200 companies, including Disney, Nissan, Sapient, Vistaprint, Toyota, Labcorp, Nike, and Aetna. He later pursued his entrepreneurial passion, leading or founding four multimillion-dollar companies.

He holds a Bachelor's degree with Honors in Biology and Computer Science from Stanford University. He travels, skis, and plays pickleball and Settlers of Catan with his daughter and two sons. He also recently played keyboards in an 80's dance cover band.
