

Marty Gurry

Leader of Strategy Execution

Marty is a director of strategy execution for Meijer, a $20B retailer in the midwestern US. In his 23-year career, he also worked for Arthur Andersen, Deloitte, and Amway. He has served in positions of leadership in Internal Audit, Program Management, and Store Operations. Marty specializes in building consistent, repeatable processes that improve performance and in investing in people so they can flourish and grow to their potential.

He earned his bachelor's degree in Accounting from Xavier University and his MBA from Grand Valley State University.

Marty enjoys cooking (and eating!), exploring new places, reading nonfiction, and spending time with his wife and kids. Marty grew up in Cincinnati, Ohio, and his wife is from Taipei, Taiwan. They now live in Grand Rapids, Michigan, with their two children. His mission in life is to equip others to live and work better.
