

Matthew Nutt

---

Chief Revenue Officer

Matthew Nutt's career at Flywheel Brands showcases his adaptability and commitment. He initially served as a Client Development Executive and later took on the role of Director of Outside Sales before assuming his current position as Chief Revenue Officer.

Armed with a Psychology degree from the University of Arkansas, Matthew employs his insights into consumer behavior to boost revenue and cultivate enduring client relationships. His leadership has been instrumental in driving Flywheel Brands' growth, marked by innovative sales strategies and valuable partnerships.

Matthew is married to Sarah, and a proud parent to Ivey, Everett, and Addie. He has a passion for running, cycling, and training, which fuels his personal and professional drive.