

Tim Couch

Managing Principal

As a Senior Managing Director at a Fortune 500 global real estate firm, Tim co-founded two service lines: Real Estate Outsourcing for Hospital Systems and Distressed Real Estate Asset Disposition. He led teams serving complex for-profit and non-profit organizations, consistently delivering outstanding client outcomes, exceeding performance goals, and earning industry recognition.

In 2021, he semi-retired, and now he and his wife, Pam, own a window-treatments business serving residential and commercial customers.

Tim is a CPA and Real Estate Broker. He was a Fellow in the American College of Healthcare Executives and an Adjunct Professor of Real Estate at the University of North Texas, where he received his Master's in Finance. He has a Bachelor's in Accounting from Harding College.

Tim, a golf enthusiast, has been married to Pam since 1982. They love to travel and have visited all 50 United States and more than 40 countries. They have two married children and five grandchildren.
