

Tom Rockwood

Supply Chain Professional

Tom's career at Procter & Gamble spanned 30 years, including roles in Product Supply, Supply Chain Operations, and Customer Business Development. Throughout his tenure, he held Supply Chain leadership roles at P&G's largest North American manufacturing site. He also held direct customer relationship roles with some of the company's biggest clients, such as Target and Kroger.

After retiring from P&G, Tom served as an Adjunct Instructor of Supply Chain Management at the University of Cincinnati and took on the role of Chief Operations Officer for the Aruna Project, a U.S.-India collaboration dedicated to empowering women through sustainable employment. Currently, Tom is the Manager of Material Handling and Customer Service at Natorp's Nursery Outlet, which grows and sells over a million plants annually.

He earned his bachelor's degree in Management Engineering from Worcester Polytechnic Institute. He has been married to Susan since 1979, and they have three married children and 10 grandchildren. In his free time, Tom enjoys landscaping, woodworking, and reading.

